Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 26 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Scattered showers, perhaps thundery. Feeling very warm.

Today:
A dry start with sunny spells. Cloud bubbling up to give a few afternoon showers. These showers will be isolated but heavy with a risk of some turning thundery. Feeling very warm and humid with light winds. Maximum temperature 26 deg C (79 deg F).

Tonight:
It will become a cloudy night for many with heavy and possibly thundery showers edging in from the west. Fog patches will form in some areas. Minimum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Tuesday:
A cloudy start with scattered showers. A few bright spells developing during the day, along with further hefty showers. These showers will reduce in the evening giving sunny spells. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Unsettled throughout the period with scattered thundery showers, locally heavy, affecting the region. Some more persistent rain will develop during Thursday afternoon. Showers continue on Friday. Feeling cooler.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.